

EWASTE

Effective Jan. 1, 2018, New Jersey has an updated Electronic Waste Disposal Law that holds manufacturers responsible for 100% of the recycling of covered electronic devices.

Who Can Recycle for FREE?

New Jersey consumers (residents, State entities, local government units, school districts) and small businesses with fewer than 50 full-time employees can recycle for free at the approved collection sites.

What Can Be Recycled for FREE?

All desktop or personal computers, computer monitors, portable computers, desktop printers, desktop fax machines and televisions sold to a consumer are accepted for free recycling under the updated legislation. Hudson County residents may also recycle peripherals (such as keyboards and mice) at the drop-off locations.

Hudson County consumers can safely, responsibly and conveniently recycle their electronic items (e-waste) year-round at no charge at any of the E-Waste Collection sites located throughout the County.
